

The player begins a new Round

After the first roll, the player decides to hold the “4” dice. They click it, and its image changes to indicate that it is held. It will not roll the next time “Roll Dice” is held.

On the final roll, the user ends up with Three of a Kind as their best possible Score. They are given 5 points for the round, and it is added to their overall score. (ignore the fact that the previous slide had 0 points for the overall score. Imagine that they had 5 points before this round finished, and 5 more points were added to it).

The “Roll Dice” button should now say “Play Again” to reset the game and start a new round.
